Comment -

Investor interest this month has tended to focus on the leading, large cap miners, ahead of the announcement of their annual results, while sentiment towards the junior sector remains subdued apart from special situations. Consequently, performance of the portfolio companies has been lacklustre, with many share prices drifting as a result of lack of investor interest during the traditionally quite summer months. With the daily NAV being based upon bid prices, this unfortunately increases the volatility of the NAV.

With no changes to the portfolio, the commodity and geographic distribution of the portfolio also remains unchanged with the top 10 holdings currently represent almost 70% of the portfolio.

During the month there has been good volume in GRIT shares on the London Stock Exchange, with the current market spread being 30p – 40p. At 35p, the shares are trading at an approx. 45% discount to NAV which creates an excellent opportunity for investors interested in the junior natural resource sector.
